To Whom It May Concern:

Re: IWB – International Website Builders

Commercial Laser Technologies Inc. (CLT) called upon IWB to revamp our website almost 10 years ago due to lack of traffic and overall lack of interest from our target market. Over the years, we have worked with IWB and have been successful in getting our message across to our potential clients.

We chose IWB because we know Bill Van Horne. He was working for a client that we know and trust and through the course of time, we also got to know Terry Van Horne and trusted his feedback regarding our website.

Here at CLT., we are pleasantly surprised at the outcome of our decision to have IWB re-construct our website from ground up. The results speak for itself – from positive customer feedback, increase in traffic and ease of use. Overall, it is what we needed a website to be – to make potential customers aware of our existence in the field of our expertise, and to keep our existing customers informed of new developments and new products and services.

I do not have any hesitation in recommending IWB to anyone looking for a company that will deliver professional, quality work on your website and prompt ongoing technical support at very reasonable prices.

Sincerely,

Jackee VanderLinden
